

I have had XM radio for over a year now and am happy to have it. I am paying for my services, and appreciate their uncut / unedited / unregulated format. I recently made a long road trip and it was nice to have the same radio stations that I have at home always (commercial free). Also, regarding the traffic and weather updates, it was nice just dialing in the cities I was going through to get the local important information, without searching for an appropriate channel or waiting for local commercials. I had no plans of stopping in most of the cities, and had no need to listen to their commercials. If satellite tv can get local programming, why not XM. This shouldn't even be an issue, if local market radio would keep up with the times and offer some new services, there might be a reason. However, they do not, so they don't deserve the right to take away what I already pay for. Also, I am moving to Colorado soon, and am happy that I will not have to change my listening preferences. Thank you for your time.
